Draemel Confirmation Will Round Out Fine's Cabinet

WOODSIDE IN POST VACATED BY MARGIOTTI

Harrisburg, Feb. 27—(P)—John Fine lacked only the confirmation of M. F. Draemel as forests and waters secretary today to round out senate approval of his cabinet.

Judge Robert E. Woodside's appointment as attorney general last night dramatically dissolved a six-week stalemate on cabinet confirmations created by Democratic opposition to retention of Charles J. Margiotti in that post.

Senate Democrats immediately voted their deadlock and joined with the Republican majority in affirming appointment of the 46-year-old Dauphin county jurist and other cabinet members.

Among them was the name of 35-year-old L. M. Campbell, Oil City banker, whose nomination as banking secretary accompanied Woodside's name to the senate.

But Draemel's reappointment to another four-year term to head the forests and waters Department failed to reach a vote.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, said some members of his party "as well as a lot of republicans" want to ask Draemel some questions about his past actions in the department.

Dent and his 19 Democratic colleagues hold enough votes to block approval of Draemel, a retired navy admiral who is a holdover from former Gov. James H. Duff's cabinet.

The Democratic leader gave no hint of the line of questioning that will be directed at Draemel.

Meanwhile, legislation reached the governor's desk to change the 1951 primary election date from Sept. 11 to July 24.

The senate last night cleared the measure for the governor's signature into law after approving house changes in a section granting absentee voting privileges to servicemen.

The house amendment limits ballots to actual members of the armed forces. Originally, it had been proposed that some civilian groups attached to the services be given the same privilege.

In the house, a final vote was headed on the final segment of the administration's civil defense program. The bill fixed the death penalty for industrial sabotage involving loss of life.

The senate's action in approving Fine's cabinet—with the exception of Draemel—restored the department heads to their full $15,000 a year salaries.

They had been serving as acting secretaries since Jan. 16 when the cabinet deadlock first developed.

Woodside is expected to take the oath of office as attorney general on Thursday. That would finally end Margiotti's resignation effective when Woodside takes over.

Woodside will take a $3,000 a year cut in salary in leaving the Dauphin county judgeship. His court salary was $18,000 a year.

Officials of O. P. S. Report Auto Price Freeze Will Be Extended Beyond March 1

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—Officials of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said today they plan to extend the auto price freeze, which otherwise would expire March 1.

The manufacturers' prices of new cars now are frozen at the levels of last Dec. 1. The order was issued in mid-December, and was the first price control order by the OPS.

Officials said the order may be extended to April 1 to give them time to work out new regulations for manufacturers of all kinds.

For the last two months the OPS has been working on a revision of the auto price freeze that would permit the manufacturers—in some cases at least—to raise prices to help compensate for higher costs of production.

The agency has decided not to issue this revision separately, but to accomplish the same purpose through an order applying to manufacturers in general. This sweeping order will tell manufacturers how much they can charge over and above their actual costs.

But this order won't be ready by March 1. It should be ready some time in March. That's why, according to the OPS officials, the auto freeze will be extended.

REPORT OF SHOTS

A report of shots sounding in the night on lower Fourth avenue resulted in a police call to that point about 9:15 o'clock. Officers found no one engaged in target practice and think it may have been a car backfiring.

Act Limiting Presidents To Ten Years In Office Ratified

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—From now on, no president of the United States—except for Harry Truman—may be elected to more than two terms.

And under the 22nd amendment to the constitution, which for all practical purposes became law last night, no man or woman may serve more than ten years in the White House.

The amendment, while limiting future presidents to two elective terms, allows a person who has served two years or less of an unexpired term to be elected twice on his own.

As president at the time the amendment was approved by the Republican controlled 80th congress, Mr. Truman was specifically exempted.

Thus he would be permitted to run for a second full term in 1952 even though his White House tenure would then fall within the ban set out in the new amendment. He has not said whether he will run.

Utah and Nevada legislatures acted in quick succession last night to approve the amendment. Nevada completed action at 7:30 p. m. (EST), becoming the 36th state to ratify the amendment.

The new amendment could be repealed by the same procedure, of course, just as the 18th—Prohibition—amendment was repealed by the 21st. It was ratified on Dec. 5, 1933.

The amendment when proposed was generally regarded as a rebuke to the late President Franklin Roosevelt, who won four terms in the White House. He thus broke a two-term precedent set by George Washington, who declined to run for a third term.

Actually, a few formalities still remain to be carried out.

After the ratification documents are signed in the final states to act, state officials must notify the federal government in the person of General Services Administrator Jess Larson, who has supervision over the archives.

He will then formally proclaim the amendment as a portion of the nation's basic law.

Wherry Speaks Out Against Stassen And Dewey on Troops-to-Europe Issue

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska today spoke out bitterly against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen for their opposition to his troops-for-Europe resolution.

He also struck at military advocates of ground warfare, saying congress must "break the noose that now hangs over our Air Force."

The Nebraska lawmaker accused Dewey of resorting "to the tactic of smearing" the resolution in his appearance before the senate foreign relations and armed services committees last Saturday.

The committees are considering a Wherry resolution which would record the senate as opposed to President Truman's sending additional troops to Europe until congress has passed on the policy.

Wherry said Stassen was confused in his interpretation of the North Atlantic Treaty, and that evidence against Stassen's "improvised interpretation" of the pact was overwhelming.

Wherry took the offensive against the two Republican leaders in a strongly-worded 8,500-word statement read to the foreign relations and armed services committees.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of foreign relations and Russell (D-Ga) of armed services have prepared a substitute for the resolution. It would, in effect, give the president the advance backing of the senate to send troops to Europe provided he consulted with defense and congressional officials.

Connally and Russell said they would reject two amendments offered yesterday by Senator Taft of Ohio, the senate Republican policy leader, one of which would require congressional approval for any troops commitment.

Former President Herbert Hoover will be heard this afternoon.

Both Gov. Dewey and Stassen aroused Wherry's ire when they urged the defeat of his resolution.

Wherry charged there had been a "vicious campaign" to confuse the issue of his resolution.

As to what the U. S. should do to defend itself, Wherry asserted: "Air power is the key to our survival in the event of war."

In opposing Taft's ideas, Russell said the Ohioan's proposal to require that congress pass on the general character and number of forces to be placed under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic command would bare vital defense secrets to Russia.

Quadruple Amputee of World War II Has Visit With Similarly Handicapped Boy

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—It was a day of good hope and cheer for Pfc. Robert L. Smith, the Middleburg, Pa., soldier who lost both hands and both feet in Korea.

For one thing, he met and got hearty encouragement yesterday from a quadruple amputee of another war. James Wilson, who lost his limbs in a World War Two plane crash, was flown from Colorado to chat with Smith and show him how great handicaps can be overcome.

Besides that, Bob Smith held his first news conference since he was brought to Walter Reed Hospital for surgery and treatment late in December.

And in Philadelphia, the Academy of Music was given over last night to an exciting concert, under auspices of the Philadelphia Inquirer, the proceeds of which go into the American Legion's "Bucks for Bob" campaign chest. Already a good deal more than $90,000 has been raised to assure Smith's future. The Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion will announce at a dinner here tonight the grand total of contributions.

Wilson now uses artificial arms and legs, drives his own car, manages a dial telephone, writes in longhand, does many other things. He is a law student at the University of Colorado, and married. His wife came along on this visit.

While reporters looked on and photographers went to work, the 26-year-old Wilson rolled up his trouser cuffs and explained to Smith how best to use the artificial limbs.

WAGE POLICY DECLARATION IS EXPECTED

BULLETIN

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—A high government official said today Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston will approve the 10 per cent "catch up" wage increase formula as it stands, but will invite the shattered wage board to reassemble at once to consider modifications. This official who may not be quoted by name, said the changes on which Johnston will suggest study might persuade the three labor members of the nine-man board to return. They quit in protest against the ten per cent pattern.

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—The government issued an order today aimed to assure that every business enterprise, public and private institution will get limited quantities of materials needed to keep their plants and facilities in operating condition.

The order from the National Production Authority (NPA) establishes a special priority rating for supplies for maintenance, repair and operations—excepting materials going into end products.

The new order, a part of the whole controls program, came on the heels on one regulating the civilian use of rubber products—affecting 40,000 items in all—and at a time when a declaration of national wage policy was imminent.

Manly Fleischmann, the NPA administrator, said the new order is designed to enable business and industrial firms, schools and other institutions to remain in good repair "so that they can operate at a maximum rate consistent with direct defense requirements."

He added in a news release that many enterprises and institutions are now having great difficulty in obtaining materials and equipment for such purposes.

Truman Asks Hike In Postal Rates

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—President Truman today asked Congress to double postal rates on second-class mail and increase from one to two cents the cost of carrying a postal card.

These were among the recommendations Mr. Truman made in a message aimed at wiping out "the bulk of the present postal deficit, which should not be borne by the general taxpayer." He listed among his recommendations for eliminating the bulk of the deficit:

1. Raising the cost of postal cards from one to two cents and leaving first class mail rates unchanged.

2. On second-class mail rates: "If these rates are doubled—which is the least that should be done—the general taxpayer would still be 'subsidizing second class mail to the extent of more than 60 per cent of its postal cost.'"

Second class mail covers newspapers and magazines. Mr. Truman said "excessive subsidies for newspapers and magazines are not only wrong, they are seriously inequitable."

3. Mr. Truman said the minimum rate on circulars and advertising matter should be increased from one to two cents.

County's Red Cross Campaign for 1951 Opens Officially with Meeting Tonight

Warren County's 1951 Red Cross campaign, with a quota of $21,690, opens officially tonight with a meeting of all county workers to be held at 7:30 in the large room of the Court House. The 1951 appeal is being carried direct to the homes of every person in Warren borough, and a mail campaign will reach every Warren county rural box holder. Under the direction of Brace Knabenshue, chapter chairman, and Donald E. Schuler, campaign chairman, a borough-wide organization of volunteer workers has been set up.

The 1951 quota of $21,690 represents a substantial increase over quotas in past recent years, and is necessary for the Red Cross to carry both on the fighting fronts and on the home fronts.

Workers will ask the people of Warren to take this increased quota into consideration when making their individual 1951 contribution. Some of the enormous tasks which the American Red Cross has assumed under our nationalization for defense program are:

- (1) Providing for instant use, tremendous amounts of blood plasma.
- (2) Training some 20 million persons in first aid.
- (3) Instructing 100,000 women and girls to serve as nurse's aides.
- (4) Teaching many more thousands home nursing skills.
- (5) Recruiting more than a half million additional volunteers to aid local defense units and to serve in expanding military installations.

Two Tots Located After Spending Night In Woods

Franklin, Feb. 27—(P)—A volunteer fireman today found two lost seven year old boys who spent a chilly night in the woods.

The missing lads, Ronald King and William Whitman of nearby Springfield, were found after an all night search by a party of about 200 nearby residents, state police and volunteer firemen.

They were found near a game preserve in wooded country about two miles from their homes. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman King and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whitman.

The boys were taken to Franklin hospital where officials said they were suffering slightly from exposure. The hospital expects to discharge them later today.

The search ended about 9 o'clock when Walter Cieplechowski found the lads huddled under a tree. They had been missing since about 6 o'clock last evening when they were last seen playing near their homes.

The youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman King and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whitman, disappeared while playing in a field in the rear of their homes in the tiny community near the top of South Pecan hill about four miles south of Franklin.

Mrs. King stated that her son ate his dinner upon his return from the Lyons school, where both lads are students in the second grade. About 5 p. m. he and the Whitman lad went out to play in the field. She called them when darkness descended at 6 p. m., and when the boys did not return to their homes by 7 o'clock she became alarmed and the search got under way.

$8,540 Mink Coat Is Mentioned In RFC Investigation

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—Senate investigators received testimony today that an $8,540 mink coat, delivered to Mrs. E. Merl Young last fall, was charged to the account of a Washington lawyer who has handled RFC loan applications.

Louis O. Wheeler, New York furrier who sold the coat, said it was first charged to Young about Sept. 15, 1950, but later the charge was switched to the account of Joseph J. Rosenbaum. Rosenbaum has been described by the investigators as a man with power to influence the granting of RFC loans.

Wheeler testified before a senate banking subcommittee which is looking into the question whether influence and favoritism has figured in loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Rep. Sutton (D-Tenn) charged in a house speech recently that the coat was a payment for influence on RFC loans. He said that at least he had heard rumors to that effect.

Young, whose wife is a White House stenographer, swore to the senate subcommittee last week that it was he who bought the coat.

Top Civil Defense Expert in State Is Reported Planning to Resign Position

Harrisburg, Feb. 27—(P)—Col. Alton C. Miller, the Commonwealth's top Civil Defense expert, was reported ready today to resign his post.

The Allentown man was recently demoted from Civil Defense director to assistant director subordinate to Dr. Theodore Distler, Lancaster.

Distler, on a year's leave of absence from the presidency of Franklin and Marshall College, was named chairman of the State Civil Defense Commission by Gov. John S. Fine.

The college president also is director at $15,000 a year, with Miller as assistant director at $10,000 a year. N. L. Wymard, Pittsburgh, former secretary to ex-Governor James H. Duff, has been named an administrative assistant to Distler at $12,000 a year.

Miller resigned a $13,000 a year post with the National Security and Resources Board to come here last September to set up Pennsylvania's Civil Defense program.

Both Republican and Democratic senators, declining to be quoted by name, said they have learned that Miller is dissatisfied with the current arrangement. Miller, they said, is ready to leave as soon as he can turn his functions over to Distler and Wymard.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, already has assailed the Wymard appointment as a "political" move.

Miller, attending a series of closed conferences with his staff, was unavailable for comment.

CHINESE ARE SHIFTED INTO NEW POSITION

Tokyo, Feb. 27—(P)—An American regiment cracked the main Korean Red defenses on the east-central battlefield today after Doughboys in the same sector smashed five fierce Communist counterattacks.

The Reds were being chased into an uncharged mountain wilderness.

"We have broken their main line of resistance," said Col. William R. Quinn, commander of the U. S. Seventh Division regiment that broke through the Reds on the east-west highway from Pangnim to Wonju.

All along the central warfront United Nations forces moved ahead steadily but cautiously.

The five Korean Red counterattacks were hurled back by the U. S. Second Division on the left flank of the Seventh Division in predawn darkness some 15 miles southeast of Hoengsong. The fighting, in a howling wind, lasted more than three hours.

Field dispatches reported it was one of the sharpest actions in the week-old renewal of the United Nations drive to kill, maim or capture Chinese and Korean Reds south of parallel 38.

The drive—spearheaded by the U. S. First Marine Division—apparently has thwarted or delayed a Chinese counter-offensive by four to six armies.

A U. S. army spokesman said 100,000 Chinese had been shifted into defense positions. He added that it would require several weeks for the Reds to regroup for any drive against the Allies.

A P. Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported "all evidence along the central front continued to point to a planned withdrawal" behind stubborn rearguard actions.

The disclosure that the First Marine Division is pacing the drive in the mid-section of the central front was the first report of the hardened leathernecks in action since December.

Field dispatches said a Marine patrol entered the eastern outskirts of Hoengsong.

A Chinese demolition team slipped through the fire-blackened town under covering artillery fire and blew a bridge spanning Amul creek on the south side.

Low clouds and poor visibility limited Fifth Air Force operations Tuesday to 113 sorties, with close support of ground forces concentrated on the east-central sector.

But four waves of B-29 superforts rained 130 tons of fire bombs on Red barracks in North Korea 35 miles northeast of Pyongyang, the Red capital. The bombers met light anti-aircraft fire.

The Marines are one of seven U. S. divisions in the Allied line stretching irregularly from the Yellow Sea west coast to the east-central front town of Pangnim, an airline distance of 100 miles. Pangnim is 40 air miles inland from the east coast.

O'Day Waives Extradition and Will Be Returned to Warren Sheriff Announces

Sheriff L. E. Linder said this morning that he had received word from Orange, Texas, that Kenneth L. O'Day, alias Kermit Lane Oberg, arrested there over the weekend, has waived extradition and will willingly return to Warren.

Sheriff Linder, possibly accompanied by Chief of Police Mike Evan, plans to leave shortly to bring O'Day back to Warren to face charges of larceny of an automobile and violation of parole.

While in Texas, officers will make an effort to locate the car which O'Day is alleged to have taken from the Warren Motor Sales, 20 Conewago avenue, where he was employed. The car is not in O'Day's possession now, Sheriff Linder said.

O'Day has been placed on probation for five years, to report to Sheriff Linder periodically, following his sentence by Judge Allison D. Wade on a charge of forgery. The stolen car charge was filed by city police after O'Day disappeared soon after being placed on parole.

Since that time, officials have been searching for him, and a short time ago, thought he had been located in Akron, Ohio. The individual seen in Akron bore a remarkable resemblance to O'Day, Sheriff Linder said, and he made a trip to that city to make sure.

Tag Days Are Planned to Raise County's Goal of $5,000 In Cancer Fund Drive

Representatives of eight counties, holding a luncheon-meeting Saturday at the Colonel Drake Hotel in Titusville, set up the preliminary machinery for an $80,000 Cancer Fund drive to be launched in northwestern Pennsylvania in the near future.

The Warren county goal, set at $5,000, will be tackled in a mail solicitation that will cover the entire county and through Tag Days to be held in Warren and larger communities of the county.

Dr. John Urbaitis, president of the Warren county unit, said today that L. F. Gerber, executive secretary of the state association, will be in Warren on Tuesday evening, March 6, for a meeting with the local executive board and detailed plans will be announced following his visit.

Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties sent 32 persons to the Titusville gathering to hear a number of state officers explain plans for the spring campaign.

Present from Warren were Dr. Urbaitis; Miss Edna Thompson, county captain, and Miss Martha Lupold, head of the Loan Closet committee.

In connection with reports of the gathering, it is noted that last year Forest county topped its quota by more than 200 per cent and received an award from the state unit for its achievement.

George Furlong, public educational director of the society, was here from Harrisburg last week to confer with local board members and to assist in the all-out effort to place educational materials before the public.

Local Man to Be Flight Instructor

Franklin G. Lucie, 35, of 729 Market street, has arrived at Craig Air Force Base in Alabama to begin training as a military flight instructor in the first civilian pilot class since World War II.

An ex-Air Force pilot, Lucie is attending a six-week instructor refresher course in the Craig Pilot Instructor School with 47 topnotch civilian pilots. He will receive the latest academic and flying instruction, with half of each training day spent in the classroom and the remaining time devoted to flying.

Upon graduation from the school, the only one of its type in the United States, he will be an instructor for the first class of 134 pre-flight aviation cadets at the recently reactivated Greenville Air Force Base in Mississippi. A civilian contracting company, Graham Aviation, will operate the pre-flight school at Greenville.

NEWEST OF THE "FRUIT SALAD"—That new blue and white ribbon you may begin to spot on the chests of servicemen is the Korean Service Ribbon, recently authorized by executive order of the President. The award is given to all troops permanently assigned to Korea or adjacent waters, or for temporary duty of 30 consecutive days, or 60 days not consecutive.

THERE'S more to our business THAN MAKING GLASSES

Service is really our business. We serve you first by filling your doctor's prescription accurately, but that's just the beginning. Even more important to us is making your glasses comfortable as well as truly corrective—making them pleasant and natural to wear. And that's not just the start either. Once you're our patient, we're interested in keeping your glasses satisfactory—make any necessary adjustment all for the original cost.

EVERY ONE A SOLDIER—A tiny battle line of miniature soldiers is the shrine that Mrs. Edna Koch has created in the front window of her home in Detroit. Each wooden soldier represents a real soldier. Those on the left represent Mrs. Koch's son, Roy, and his buddies fighting in Korea. Figures to the right of the angel are for two other sons and the neighbor boys serving in this country. A light in the tiny church at left shines night and day.

ACE STORES SAY:

Last summer when the Korean war started, and merchandise started to get scarce, and prices started to rise, we placed huge orders with all our suppliers, anticipating a shortage and higher prices.

However we ordered far more than we should have, and today our store, basement and storerooms are packed and jammed with at least 3 times as much stock as we should have, and MORE IS ARRIVING DAILY.

We had to do something quick, so employed Mr. Wm. E. Loeber nationally known Merchandise Liquidator, under contract to sell at least $30,000 worth at what ever price the public is willing to pay for it.

We particularly invite our many old friends and customers, to this "TRULY, ONCE IN A LIFETIME SALE".

22ND AMENDMENT BECOMES LAW

Except for a few formalities the 22nd amendment to the constitution, restricting future presidents to two elective terms, became a law last night when it was formally ratified by Utah and Nevada, making 36 states to give approval.

As a Washington feature writer says we may never know whether this limit on the presidency is wise until we get into a crisis and have to choose a new leader.

But at least congress and 36 of the 48 state legislatures thought it was a wise way of keeping any man from perpetuating himself in office.

In 1947, when the Republicans controlled congress for the first time since 1932 and the four terms to which President Roosevelt was elected were still fresh in mind, both houses agreed on this:

The constitution should be amended to forbid any man from being elected to the White House more than twice or, at the outside, more than 10 years.

Which means: If a vice president succeeded to the presidency and served no more than two years of an unexpired term, he could then be elected twice on his own.

If he served more than two years of a president's unexpired term, then he could be elected to only one four-year term.

But none of this applies to Mr. Truman. The proposed amendment specifically exempted him. So he's free to run and be elected as many times as he can.

And none of this could become a part of the constitution unless 36—or two-thirds—of the states' legislatures approved. Last night Nevada approved. It was the 36th to do so.

Actually, the amendment doesn't become official until Jess Larson, the head of the General Services Administration, issues a formal proclamation.

RED CROSS RALLY OPEN TO PUBLIC

The public, as well as Red Cross Drive workers, are invited to attend the Red Cross Rally this evening in the large court room of the Court House. Meeting will start promptly at 7:30, and an exciting movie of the American Red Cross in action will be shown. Everyone interested in the Civil Defense program is urged to see this highly instructive and entertaining movie tonight.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

THE REV. JAMES KELLY, Epworth Methodist Church

THE GLORY OF THE CROSS

Text: "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." (2 Corinthians 4:6).

A number of years ago I had the privilege of hearing Dr. Georgia Harkness speak before a conference of Methodist students from all over the United States on the theme: "The Nature and Reality of God." The striking story with which she began her address is one that I have never forgotten. "You have doubtless all heard," said she, "of the little girl who was seen one day bending over her paper and crayons, engaged in an artistic venture which was to her of all-absorbing importance.

"What are you doing, Annabel?" said her mother.

"I'm making a picture of God," she replied.

"Oh, but you can't do that!" said her mother. "Nobody knows what God looks like."

"Well, when I get through, they will!" said the little girl.

This simple little story illustrates a profound truth of human experience. It is the truth that nobody knows what God looks like and yet we are eternally trying to make pictures of Him. We never cease to wonder about the nature and reality of God. We keep on asking, "What is God like?"

Agenda for the Coming Big Four Parley

"LET'S US TALK ABOUT HIM!"

Here And There

Here's an item from The Evening Times of fifty years ago today, that concerns one of the oldest and best known buildings in Liberty street, between Second and Third avenues:

The glass fronts have been placed in the new Wendelboe building on Liberty street, and present a very handsome appearance. The temporary wooden front will be removed in a few days and Mr. Wendelboe will take possession of the new store room soon. On the second floor the plant of The Mirror Publishing Company is established. The entire front is of glass, and it is here that the counting room is located, as well as the editorial rooms. A handsome new book press has been installed and occupies a position in another portion of the room. On this floor are also located the job department, as well as the newspaper composing room and the Linotype machine. The large press will be located in the basement and rest upon a cement floor base; connected with the second floor by elevator. Electricity furnishes the motive power.

The Mirror will be fully settled in their new home in a few days for the first time since the fire that destroyed their plant in the Johnson Exchange building in December.

This 'N That: William G. Gavin, son of Congressman and Mrs. Leon Gavin, 314 Innis street, Oil City, has been promoted to captain in the United States Army Corps of Engineers, according to a release received from Heidelberg, Germany. . . . Publication of a picture last week believed to have been the first airplane to land on a Warren field brought back fond memories to many Warren readers, one of whom was of the opinion that it was owned and operated by Earl Zandt, of Erie, who later cracked up and was killed flying in the lake area. . . . A total of 1,078 magazine subscriptions, grossing the sum of $3,579.50 was sold by the junior class of the Oil City High School in their annual magazine subscription campaign which concluded last week, and after the expenses have been deducted it is expected the students' percentage for their effort will be at least $1,100 for their Oil Can project. . . . Red Cross officials in Titusville are endeavoring to secure donors to meet the quota of 150 pints of blood for the visit of the Bloodmobile March 6. . . . Frost bubbles are causing thousands of dollars worth of damage to main highways and secondary roads in the area according to reports. . . . The balmy weather of the past couple days resulted in considerable activity in the sugar bushes of the area. . . . Richard Price, of Bear Lake, has been awarded the junior part tuition scholarship at Houghton College in recognition of his excellent scholastic work. . . . Don G. Mitchell, president of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., has been designated a winner of one of the Freedom Foundation's 1950 Honor Medals for his "outstanding contribution to a better understanding of freedom." . . . Somewhere among the crocheters of the country are the 1951 champions of crochet, according to a release from National Needlecraft Bureau, Inc., which says "they will be chosen by their entries in the Nationwide Crochet Contest, held throughout the United States at state, county and local fairs. Entries in the contest are submitted to the fairs who do the preliminary judging and in this vicinity, anyone—man, woman or teenager—who wants to get into the fun, can enter one or more pieces in the contest at the Youngsville Community Fair." . . . Slip King, manager of the Warren airport, is around again after a month's siege with pneumonia.

Politicos' Interference in War Gives Generals Big Headache

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—British Prime Minister Ernest Bevin's insistence on United Nations approval for re-crossing the 38th parallel in Korea caught Washington by surprise. It was a little bit like Sen. Robert A. Taft's insistence that the United States should get out of Korea and his opposition to sending more troops to Europe. Both actions, by politicians, have caused military strategists no end of trouble in their staff planning.

United Nations representatives in Washington have been kept fully briefed by State Department and Pentagon on Korean developments. Every nation that has sent troops to Korea has been informed how its contingent was being used, and how it fitted in with broader strategy. State Department has met with ambassadors from the Allied countries twice a week. Pentagon has briefed military attaches at the embassies and the combined chiefs of staff representatives in Washington almost daily. Both have agreed on policies and approved moves made by General MacArthur in the field.

Washington thought everything was rolling as smoothly as could be expected. Prime Minister Bevin's balk upset the applecart. It has dumped in General MacArthur's lap a political question he was trying to avoid in the new campaign to destroy the Communist armies first, without reference to defending any cities or holding any lines.

In announcing Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller's latest trip around South America, Secretary of State Dean Acheson mentioned that Secretary Miller, as head of Latin-American affairs, would be in Buenos Aires during the Pan-American games. They're modeled after the Olympic games, and will be held every four years in a different Western Hemisphere country.

"But," said Secretary Acheson at the end of his formal announcement, "Secretary Miller is not entering the games himself."

DEPARTMENT of Defense procurement officers are giving Price Stabilizer Michael DiSalle plenty of headaches by constant demands for exemptions from price ceiling regulations. The armed services justify their requests by statements they can't get manufacturers to take contracts under ceiling prices. Flexible, unfrozen prices on raw materials like wool and hides are what make fixed-price contracts hard to negotiate. So Defense officials shoot over to the Office of Price Stabilization requests for exemptions that will permit contracts for uniforms and shoes at above ceiling prices. Reluctantly, OPS has to agree to the exemptions so that the armed services can get what they say they need when they need it. And with every exemption, there goes into the economy some more government built-in inflation.

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall revealed for the first time the inside story on sending the first B-29 group to England, in his testimony before Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. It was in the spring of 1948. General Marshall was then Secretary of State. The Pentagon was urging that U. S. heavy bombers be based in England, to bolster European defenses. Secretary Marshall was then trying to reach agreement with the Russians on Germany, Austria, Greece and other European problems.

"As Secretary of State," General Marshall told the Senate committees in their consideration of today's further arms aid to Europe, "I put a delay on the movement of B-29's to England. I did so, trying to reach agreement with the Soviet Union. I finally saw this was hopeless, so I agreed to the first movement of B-29's."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vaneps of Youngsville, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a family party at their home on Davis street. During the afternoon, the couple told of the circumstances of the pioneer wedding. The groom wore a suit of black velvet with heavy boots and the bride wore cinnamon brown silk, trimmed with lace and ribbon. There were also tales of the Civil War, as Mr. Vaneps had served in the army during that period.

Another Youngsville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, are celebrating their golden wedding.

Badly in need of a central building to be used as a headquarters for the work which shows no signs of diminishing, the Warren Relief Association has secured the dwelling house at 307 Third avenue, which will be used as a central station in the future.

The regular meeting of the Pickett Club was called to order by M. H. Smith, the newly elected vice president, due to the absence of Don Chestnutt, the president.

Senator L. S. Chapman, who has returned from the weekly session of the Legislature at Harrisburg, reports that he presented a bill providing for the erection of a concrete bridge across the Conewango at North Warren, which would connect Route 66 with what is known as the Big Four Road, on the east side of the creek.

War Bulletins: Japan was reliably reported to have delivered an ultimatum to French Indo-China, demanding that she accept Japan's "final" proposal of mediation in the Indo-China - Thailand border dispute.

The newly-installed bar-type fountain and luncheonette in the Kresge store will open March 1st, according to the store's manager, F. A. Wood.

A Blackstone washer (with 60 boxes of Rinsos) costs $39.95 at the Turner Radio Shop.

Prudential insurance men and their wives gathered at the new home of Assistant Superintendent Roy Kridler and Mrs. Kridler, East Third avenue, and tendered them a housewarming party.

Delayed Dispatch Interests Friends County Soldier

Delayed dispatch just received from headquarters of the First Infantry Division in Korea will interest local friends of the Warren County man described.

When you speak of a "hair-trigger" to 30-year old Cpl. John Peterson, it's likely there'll be a difference in meaning.

Bill, fair-haired Peterson, husband of Mrs. Georgia Peterson, 111 No. 1, Warren, Pa., gives connotation of "hair-trigger": missed getting wounded by an enemy bullet smashed my rifle a hair above my ear."

The good-looking First Cavalryman who has experienced more than 100 days frontline combat went into attack on the central Korean front with his M-1 rifle.

Halfway up the sheer slope of strategic hill, Peterson's position was pinned down by enemy small arms fire.

The first enemy machinegunner sent blazing lead into the position's area. One of the slugs landed into Peterson's rifle and off parts of the trigger housing.

Setting aside his wrecked weapon and pocketing a slivered motor of his life-saving rifle, Peterson held up the enemy slug quipped: "The guy that fired must have had a 'hair-trigger' because it hit a hair above my ear."

Allies' newest offensive was meeting its stubbornest resistance in this western sector of the front in South Korea.

Prior to that, the Berry performed neutrality patrol in the Formosa Straits.

Word comes from Karlsruhe, Germany, that George W. Spangler, Sgt./F1, of Russell, has been assigned to the 48th Antiaircraft Battalion. Sgt. Spangler, whose duties are those of platoon sergeant, joined the army in 1942, serving with the armed forces in the European campaign and participating in three battles. After a short period of training, he was assigned to his present unit, which is a part of the 1st Infantry Division.

Letters to the Editor

Feb. 23, 1951

Dear Editors! Hi You-all,

'Wal shut my mouf an call me uh Yawnkee' if I haven't had a lot of letters from old friends in Warren asking me to send the robins back up North, (letter of Feb. 8). 'Shor nuf, ma friens,' they're on their way. I told them to 'git on outo har' and they should be arriving in Warren about March 3rd.

Now will you do me a favor? And for the other rebels down here in Louisiana? When the ice breaks up in the old Allegheny don't let it come South too fast. Even if you have to have a bit of a jam now and then.

As you no doubt know we rebels here in New Orleans have an altitude of minus 5 ft. . . . Yep, we are perched on a beautiful green plot of land between the mighty Mississippi River and Lake Pontchartrain (a little over twice as big as Lake Chautauqua) and most of this sandy plot is below the level of river and lake. Thanks to strong levees and sea walls we consider ourselves safe. But in event of flood, or hurricane, we sometimes have water around our feet.

So please don't let the ice and snow melt too fast into that river of yours. It just might get into the Mississippi too soon and spell trouble for us. . . .

Enjoy the robins. . . . They sure were fat and sassy when they left here.

Sincerely yours,
Margaret (Peg) Birchard

74-Year-Old Woman Writes Poetry Now

Did you ever feel so good that you wanted to sing about it? Mrs. Della Burrows, Route 1, Zionsville, Indiana, feels so good nowadays, that she's writing poetry about it.

Mrs. Burrows wanted everyone to know just how highly she thought of HADACOL and she expressed it in this little poem:

"Well, here is my age, if you must know, 74 years young. Hair white as snow. A great many times I've heard people say 'I'm taking HADACOL every day! Just try a bottle and you will find it's what you've been looking for all this time.' So, I got me a bottle and drank it all up and soon felt as spry as a pup. So, now, I'm on my fourth bottle of HADACOL. I feel so much better. I sleep like a baby, eat like a pig, and if anyone should ask me, I could dance a jig."

Only HADACOL gives you that "Wonderful HADACOL Feeling"—accept no substitutes. Buy the genuine HADACOL today.

Titus stated today that he will be at his headquarters, 213 Connecticut avenue, all day Saturday for the purpose of sealing traps. Mr. Titus also stated that Game Protector George Burdick will seal traps at Grange Hall in Spring Lake after one o'clock p. m., Wednesday, March 7. All traps are available for sealing pelts 15 days after the close of the season, but the special hours have been arranged for convenience of trappers.

Membership of the club is open to anyone interested in either checkers or chess whether beginners or experts in the games.

The officers of the Club are: Alex Bleckarch, president; Frank L. Geer, vice president, and Blair Craft, secretary-treasurer. Information regarding the club may be obtained from any of the above officers or from Dan Walton at the YMCA.

County Has New Assistant Farm Agent

Paul G. Hoke, a native of Franklin county, has been named assistant farm agent for Warren and McKean counties. He succeeds John E. Melchor, who has been here since 1949.

Melchor left today for Easton where he will be associated with his father in the management of a large dairy farm.

The new assistant county agent has been greatly interested in 4-H Club work and has conducted projects with pigs and baby cattle. In the cattle project, he raised a county grand champion that was shown at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Following service in the Army, Hoke attended Pennsylvania State College, where he was graduated in June, 1950, with a degree in animal husbandry.

Chief of Police Mike Evan went to Jamestown last evening to bring Murray Paul, 27, of that city, here to face charges of false pretenses.

Paul was arrested at WCA Hospital yesterday by Lt. Jerome Anderson, of the Jamestown police, and Sgt. Arthur Wright, of the New York state police, on warrants issued here charging him with issuing a bad check for $1450 to a local business establishment in purchase of an automobile. Paul was apprehended while visiting his wife, who gave birth to a son yesterday afternoon.

He will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Tracy M. Greenlund today.

Y. W. C. A. Y-Teens Win at Basketball

Y-Teens of the local YWCA defeated Falconer Y-Teens 19 to 11 in a game played last night in the Warren gym, their first sports competition with other clubs this season.

Ruth Bielenberg, who coached the Warren girls, has done a fine job on drill, which showed results last night in a speedy game.

Girls who led the Warren Y-Teens to victory were Shirley Brown, Sally Tome, Laura Cosmano, Jackie Paris, Beverly Chapman, Josie Heesley, Frances Gruttaria, Jerry Aquist, Claire Lowe, Marcia Stevens, and Ruth Whitmire.

The locals held the lead at the end of the first quarter 11-5, and the score was tied at the half 11-11. Warren girls settled down and concentrated on raising the score and won the game with the score of 19-11.

About 10 members of the Y-Teens, Hi-Y, and other interested spectators watched the game and cheered the girls on to victory.

Y-Teens served refreshments to the Falconer girls after the game and got acquainted. They plan to play a return game at Falconer March 15.

Warren Y-Teens are scheduled to play Y-Teens at Jamestown Thursday.

concerns and other institutions to apply a priority rating, called "DO-97," to orders for maintenance repair and operating supplies without individual authorization by NPA.

The National Production Authority (NPA) announced the forthcoming order last night.

By limiting usage of natural rubber to percentages ranging down to zero, depending on the type of product, the order in effect will place a 30,000-ton monthly ceiling on civilian consumption of natural rubber. Imports beyond that amount will go into stockpile or military goods.

Manufacturers will be required to mix synthetic with natural rubber. They will be permitted a 90,000 ton total consumption of both types in March, an increase of roughly 5,000 tons over this month.

Tires for smaller passenger cars will average not more than 15 per cent natural rubber, larger sizes 22 per cent. White sidewalls will be banned and passenger car tubes will contain synthetic only.

The permitted percentages of natural rubber in some other products include: baseball centers, 10 per cent; golf balls, 85 per cent; rubber tile flooring, most toys and sponge rubber "falsies," no natural rubber; girdles, baby pants and elastic thread, the minimum which manufacturers find practicable.

In another order issued yesterday, the government ordered meat packers and other suppliers to fill the needs of hospitals, orphanages, asylums and prisons. The Office of Price Stabilization directed the suppliers to furnish meats to their customers in quantities comparable to 1950, based on the number of persons to be fed.

SIGN NEW TENOR

The Chord Cadets, popular barbershop singing group over a period of several years, is back in the swing again and practicing with a brand new tenor, Bob Dietsch. Bob needs no introduction to the Warren public, however, his vocal history going back to high school days. Later, he had considerable quartet experience with the Glee Club and Chorus at Allegheny College. Currently, he is tenor soloist in First Presbyterian church here. The Cadets, incidentally, are billed on the program for the annual Jamestown Parade of Quartets, scheduled April 21 in the Senior High School auditorium. Others in the Cadet group are Boyd Sanden, Earl Ericson and Jim Cruickshank.

RAIL BIRD

Police were called to the waterfront about 10 o'clock last evening when a slightly intoxicated individual was observed hanging over the fence on the riverbank. He was brought in out of the rain and wrung out in order to be able to face Justice Greenlund today.

IF THE STOCK EXCHANGE DOESN'T OWN ANY STOCK...WHO DOES?

A long time ago a lot of folks had the idea all stocks were owned by a fistful of rich people.

Maybe that idea was right once.

Today's estimates of how many people own stocks range up to 15,000,000. All kinds of people own stocks. Office workers...housewives...mechanics...school teachers...lawyers...storekeepers...farmers. Everyday people with small incomes and large. Owning stock is owning a "piece of a business"—risking one's money to share in the profits.

You may even own stock indirectly—whether you know it or not. Most companies issuing fire and casualty insurance, as well as many pension funds, invest a part of their resources in the stocks of American industry.

What some people do not know is that the Stock Exchange does not buy or sell stocks. It doesn't put the price tag on them, either. The Exchange does provide a market place where people can buy or sell securities. The Exchange does see that prices are arrived at openly and fairly and published promptly.

The handling of investors' orders to buy or sell a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange. Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, can always be had at their offices, without obligation.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

GET GOOD CLUES FROM BIDDING

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
Nobody likes to lead away from an ace-queen, but sometimes the bidding calls for such an opening lead. In the hand shown today, the thoughtful lead chosen by West will probably surprise many players.

West looked soberly at his high diamonds and reflected that South had bid no-trump. Since South was both vulnerable and also a fairly conservative player, it was clear that South had the king of diamonds.

Hence East had bid diamonds on a suit headed by nothing better than the jack. It was obvious from the bidding that East had a poor hand, since the North-South bidding located most of the strength. Why had East bid on a poor hand and a jack-high suit?

The only reasonable answer was that East was extremely short in spades. He had been afraid to pass the double of one spade for fear

EAST-CENTRAL RED FRONT CAVES IN—Above Pongchang (1), broken remnants of three North Korean corps fled toward 38th parallel pursued by UN troops who captured Chongson (2) to the east, and in west-central Korea, consolidated gains on Hoengsong-Yongdu axis (3). But Allied "killer" offensive was stalled by stiffening Communist resistance on 25-mile western half of central sector. On extreme western front, a Yank tank-infantry patrol crossed Han River four miles east of Seoul, shot up enemy positions and withdrew.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

GIVE the youngsters an ice cream party now and then. It will take their minds off all the war talk.

For an easy, inexpensive party serve the children creamy cherry vanilla ice cream with fig cookies. Ice cream, being a dairy food, carries its weight in good nutrition, so let the youngsters have it frequently.

Cherry Vanilla Crown (Serves 6-8)

One package cherry-flavored gelatin, 1½ cups hot water, ½ cup canned cherry juice, 1 cup canned drained cherries, 1 quart cherry vanilla ice cream (bulk), fig cookies.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add fruit juice and pour a thin layer in ring molds and chill until firm. Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened, add cherries and pour into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and fill center with cherry-vanilla ice cream. Garnish with fig cookies around the outer edge of mold.

Fig Alaska

One quart cherry-vanilla ice cream (bulk), 1 box fig cookies.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, French toast, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato cheese rabbit on toast, cole slaw, stewed winter pears, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Frozen perch, baked in lemon butter; baked potatoes, spinach, hot buttered rolls, cherry vanilla ice cream, fig cookies, coffee, milk.

Losing Streak Snapped by NPC, Stylists Down the Ramblers

New Process cagers broke a seven-game losing streak last night in the Y City League by trimming the Youngsville Merchants 46-41, while the Style Shop got back into the swing of things, drubbing the Ramblers 81-43.

The Merchants slipped ahead in the initial stanza 15-10, but by the end of the third quarter the Process had cut the margin to two points. Dick Smith and Fran Wagner each found the hoop to place the NPC in the lead 36-34, but Bill Pollard evened it up with a twin-counter. Then things broke loose as Wagner hit twice, followed up with PG's by Lucia and Updegraff to build an eight point margin.

In the last three minutes Youngsville came back with five points to two for New Process, but not enough to overcome the heavy attack. Fran Wagner was high man of the game with 16 counters, Dick Smith having 12. Bill Pollard paced the losers with 15.

It was the sixth straight defeat for the Ramblers last night, dropping them into the cellar position and boosting the Process into fifth place. The Stylists had a slow first-half, out in front only 27-20 at intermission, but crowded the basket with 54 points.

Tourney Winners To Take Part In Round-robin Series

A round-robin match game series for the eight top men in the Class A and the eight high scorers in the Class B bracket of the recent Men's Singles Championship will be held at the Penn Bowling Center with the first round slated for Saturday, March 3, at 4 o'clock.

The Peterson Point-system of scoring will be used. This allows one point for each game won, one point for each 50 pins knocked down, and a half-point to the contestant having the highest total pins of a match if each contestant wins a point. No half-point is awarded if a bowler sweeps all three games.

Those eligible for the round-robin series are:

Class A

Class B
Paul Coppola, Chingo Scalise, Allan Johnson, Phil Lauffenburg, Joe Musante, Gene Pring, Merle Sterling and Harold Still. Alternate—E. Glenn Miller.

Dragon Squad Ends Campaign Tonight Against Franklin

Warren High School basketballers close out their regular 1950-51 campaign tonight when they meet the Franklin five in a Section 2 league match on Beatty court. Game time is 8:30 o'clock, with a preliminary starting at 7:15.

The first meeting between the clubs at Franklin resulted in a 58-52 triumph for the Massmen. The Dragons' record so far shows an even 50 percent with 10 wins and 10 defeats entered in the records.

Local basketball fans also will keep an eye on the outcome of another Section 2 game between Titusville and Oil City on the Oilers court. A win for Oil City will automatically give the Section 2 title to Meadville, while a win for Titusville will deadlock the race between Meadville and Titusville and necessitate a special playoff to determine the Section 1 champion.

Other games tonight include: Corry at Youngsville.

Johnsonburg at Bradford.

Proposes Bill to Legalize Betting

Costa, who has unsuccessfully backed similar legislation in the past three sessions of the general assembly, forecast the present bill would find a better fate.

New York, Feb. 27—(P)—College basketball's greatest bribe scandal has extended to another star player, another season and two more games.

The box score today stood at nine accused players or former players at three local schools and a total of 12 fixed games over three seasons, including the current one.

Nobody was sure whether the mushrooming tabulation was complete. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's office built up the all-star roster last night when it announced the arrest of Nathan (Nate) Miller, 25, of Brooklyn, a former key Long Island University player. Miller was charged with taking $1,500 in bribes for fixing two games his team lost at the start of the 1948-1949 season, the last he played.

The charge said he received $1,000 after LIU's 97-64 loss to Bowling Green State University, Ohio, on Dec. 4, 1948; and $500 after his team's 83-58 defeat by Western Kentucky State College on Dec. 30, 1948. Both games were played at Madison Square Garden.

Miller allegedly received the money from a team-mate, Edward Gard, who already is under arrest in the inquiry.

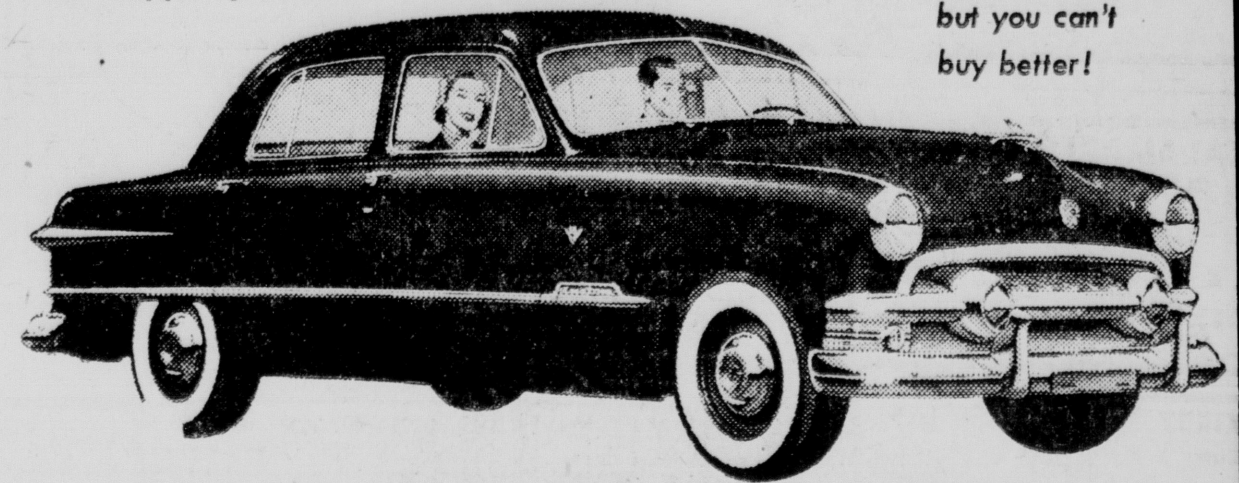

The latest defendant was a team-mate also of the accused Sherman White, Le Roy Smith and Adolph Bigos, who were then sophomores.

Miller is accused of contriving

A FIEND IN NEED

Chapter 15

WHEN I reached home Caldwell arranged himself at his desk, filled his pipe, held a match to it, and then faced me attentively.

I started at the beginning and gave a detailed account of the morning and afternoon. He listened gravely, nodded occasionally. "Are you certain," he asked abruptly, "that Lieutenant Phelan isn't aware of Straw's defalcations?"

"Positive. Davis said that all Phelan did was make a list of the accounts, and even if Phelan had examined the returns, I don't think he'd have spotted the scheme. I happened to notice the difference between the two sets accidentally; besides, if Phelan did know about it, he'd have Edelson and Dentino and Mrs. Ross on the grill."

Caldwell smoked silently for awhile. "I think we had better communicate with Lieutenant Phelan," he decided.

I phoned the detective bureau and, Phelan not being in, left word for him to communicate with Caldwell at his earliest convenience.

It wasn't more than ten minutes later that the doorbell rang and I got up to answer it. It was Lieutenant Phelan, and, giving me a negligent little nod, he walked right past me and on into the study.

"Evening, Professor," Phelan growled in a hurried, businesslike manner. "I understand you phoned headquarters."

"Why, yes, Percy," Caldwell said pleasantly. "Can you sit down a moment? Bendy and I were discussing the Straw murder. I don't suppose you've apprehended the murderer yet?"

"We've uncovered vital clues which, without a doubt, will bring an arrest before many hours have passed."

"Look, Phelan," I interrupted, "stop giving us the business. You aren't talking to the press, so you can skip the fancy blowing. You haven't the slightest idea who the murderer is, and Caldwell and I both know it.

"Better tell him, Bendy," Caldwell interrupted. "This bickering is childish, and it's wasting time."

I gave Caldwell an at tu look. "Okay, Caldwell's the boss," I said.

"Never mind the small talk," Phelan cut in. "Let's hear the facts."

"Did you check Edelson's alibi?" "Yeah. It's okay."

"Where was he?" "If you've been working on anything involving Edelson, you've wasted your time. He was in his place on South State Street from five until seven. He's out."

"Did you check through Straw's apartment?" "Of course, that's routine."

"Did you notice the folders—the red and black folders—beside his desk?" "I made a list of them. Naturally. What kind of a—"

"Let's not go into that," I said quickly. "Did you look inside the folders?"

"Yeah. Copies of tax returns."

"Did you examine the returns?" "Phelan shifted uneasily. "Why should I? One was for State returns, the other for Federal."

"No, Lieutenant Phelan," I contradicted with great formality. "You didn't examine them very carefully; if you had, you'd have noticed that both folders contain a complete set of State and Federal returns—two sets of returns for the same filing periods."

"So what?" "Straw was keeping a double set of books for eight accounts; in other words, he was maintaining fraudulent books for the purpose of gyping the government—with or without the knowledge of his clients."

PHELAN'S mouth relaxed in surprise. "You're absolutely sure of that?"

"Of course. The way I figure it, Straw filed bona fide Federal returns but cut the State figures to the bone. In a place like Dentino's, the savings in State retailers' occupational taxes alone would amount to thousands of dollars annually."

"Got a list of them?" I handed over the list and he looked at it, nodded, and handed it back to me. "That's swell," he said, not a bit ruffled.

"Why swell?" "It clinches my case." A sly grin creased his fat face. "It proves that one person—and only one person—could have killed Straw. It's as clear as crystal."

"I don't get it," I admitted. "Look at the layout," Phelan spread his hands descriptively. "There are nine apartments in the building, counting the janitor's and Straw was knifed some time between six and six-thirty. Some one in one of those nine apartments had to be the murderer."

"Because Straw was knifed in the building. Bleeding the way he was, he couldn't have been carried in from outside the building without leaving a trail of blood. He nodded positively. "When Straw left Dentino, he called on one of the other tenants and got killed."

"Who'd he call on?" "Figure it out yourself. The Douglases were miles away. Dr. McGregor was playing cards in the back room of a bar and his wife was playing games with Flecker in Flecker's apartment."

Barbara O'Neil was at a stag party. Elaine Ruhl and June Hanson were home waiting for Straw—whom June knew as John Faraday—to show up for a date. Bonquist, the janitor, was in the basement helping a plumber repair the hot water boiler. That account for five of the apartments. He checked them off on his fingers.

"Of the remaining four, three have alibis. Mrs. Ross was in bed with a nurse in attendance. Charles Edelson was in his restaurant with any number of witnesses. Dentino and his ex-wife were home together, and they admitted that Straw was there until six o'clock." He stopped, raised his brows, and looked at Caldwell.

"Who?" "Straw?" "That's all right, but what about the fourth?"

"The fourth?" "The fourth?" "The fourth?"

"The fourth?" "The fourth?" "The fourth?"

"The fourth?" "The fourth?" "The fourth?"

Drop Shown In Number of Farms Reported in State

Harrisburg — Reasons for the sharp drop of nearly 25,000 in the number of Pennsylvania farms between 1945 and 1950 are given by the State Department of Agriculture as "consolidation, diversion to other uses, abandonment, and a change in the definition of what constitutes a farm."

A listing of the number of farms for each county as enumerated by the 1950 census, shows that Warren county has 1,492 now as compared to 1,893 tallied in the 1945 U. S. Agricultural Census.

According to preliminary announcement by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, Pennsylvania now has 146,977 farms compared with 171,761 in 1945 and 149,027 in 1940. The drop from 1945 was 24,784 and the decline from 1940 was 22,050. The number has been declining steadily from the peak of 224,248 reached in 1900. Improved crop land has dropped in 50 years from 13 million to eight million acres, but the remaining acreage is producing in greater volume than ever before, officials declare.

Strangely enough, Philadelphia is one of only three Pennsylvania counties that showed an increase in the number of farms during

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, our country is now in a state of emergency, and
WHEREAS, the danger now facing us requires all-out mobilization of national resources and manpower for adequate defense, and
WHEREAS, there is a mounting need for whole blood and blood derivatives for military, civilian and civil defense use, and
WHEREAS, the relentless war of the elements against mankind leaves in its wake destruction and suffering, and

WHEREAS, the American National Red Cross—under its congressional charter—is serving the armed forces; is mobilizing for defense for the protection of the family—the community and the nation and is aiding the victims of natural disasters; now

THEREFORE, I Wm. F. Cressett, Burgess of the Borough of Warren, proclaim the month of March 1951, as Red Cross month and do here and now urge all citizens of the community to contribute without reservation to the 1951 Red Cross Fund through our local chapter; and I further urge that all men and women of good will remember that in these critical times this great humanitarian organization must be maintained at full strength; that this symbol of man's humanity remain bright as a guide to those who turn to it in time of need.

the five-year period between United States censuses. Philadelphia city and county lines are identical and the city seldom is thought of as containing any farms. The latest census shows there are now 161 farms within the city and county limits compared with 125 enumerated in the 1945 census. At that time the city had 6,823 acres of crop land including, among others, 62 horticultural—specialty farms, 30 vegetable farms, five poultry, five livestock, five general and two dairy farms.

Other counties showing an increase in number of farms are Forest, advancing from 217 to 236, and Susquehanna from 2,739 to 2,742. Lancaster still leads all counties in the number of farms, 7,953, a drop of 870. Greatest declines are noted in the industrial and coal mining counties of southwestern Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania farm census data are not fully comparable with those of 1945, the U. S. Bureau of Census explains, due to a difference in definition of a farm. In 1950, places of three or more acres were counted as farms only if agricultural products, exclusive of home garden, with a value of $150 or more were produced in 1949. Also, in 1950, places of less than three acres were counted as farms only if the value of the agricultural products SOLD amounted to $150 or more. In the 1945 census, however, places of three or more acres were counted as farms as well as those of less than three acres, if the agricultural products produced in 1944 were valued at $250 or more. The state figures for 1950 may be revised slightly when final compilations are made.

A Message from Stuart Symington

Chairman, National Security Resources Board

Unprecedented mobilization tasks face America today. Unless they are done quickly and well, we could lose a war tomorrow.

One is mobilizing our material resources, and for help with this tremendous job we look to American industry.

Another is mobilizing our human resources. A large share of this great effort is assigned to the Red Cross.

For who but the Red Cross could undertake to train 20,000,000 first-aiders to meet a sudden national emergency?

Who but the Red Cross is equipped to coordinate a vast national blood program and direct nationwide recruiting, collecting, storing and preparation of blood for shipment?

Who but the Red Cross could prepare many thousands of women and girls for voluntary home nursing and nurse's aide work?

All these things the National Security Resources Board has already asked—and the Red Cross has agreed to undertake them—with your help.

They'll be done with that spirit of willing self-sacrifice so typical of the volunteers who make up our Red Cross. They'll be done because, when you are asked to help, you won't refuse!

So when your neighbor calls for your 1951 Red Cross contribution...open your door...and open your heart!
